Cop sentenced to 15 years

NEW YORK. An NYPD officer was sentenced to 15 years in prison yesterday for stealing guns from a precinct locker to sell on the black market. Manhattan District Attorney Cyrus Vance said Nicholas Mina, 32, worked with a gun trafficker to feed his drug addiction. "This case is a striking example of the destruction that surrounds prescription drug abuse," Vance said. Mina sold guns for months. METRO/AB

BEDFORD-STUYVESANT. Cops are looking for a man wanted for an attempted rape in Brooklyn. According to police, on Nov. 16 around 1:20 a.m., a man tried to rape a 21-year-old walking home before a bystander intervened. The suspect is described as male, black, in his 20s and "clean-cut." METRO/AB

Undocumented immigrants left behind in post-Sandy recovery

► Many immigrants lost homes or a month of pay ► But undocumented immigrants are not eligible for federal aid ► One month later, advocates say they are slipping through cracks

While thousands have tapped into $703 million in federal aid after Hurricane Sandy, the city's undocumented immigrants find themselves empty-handed.

The Federal Emergency Management Agency reports that 236,000 New Yorkers have requested relief in the wake of the storm, but cash assistance for things like home repairs are only available to U.S. citizens, leaving thousands of undocumented immigrants with nowhere to turn.

In the hard-hit Rockaways, community organizer Dahlia Goldenberg of Queens Congregations United for Action said many undocumented immigrants who hold domestic jobs have been out of work for a month after employers' homes were damaged.

"There are families where two out of three adults in the household have been out of work since the storm, and they don't have the money to fix the boiler and can't get help from FEMA for that," Goldenberg said. "They have no plans for what to do when it gets colder." She added, "They should be getting help just like everybody else."

Communities and churches have provided clothing and food to storm victims, but undocumented workers are not eligible for FEMA's Disaster Unemployment Assistance.

Struggling to pay the bills without work

Krystyna, a Polish housekeeper, struggles to pay her daughter's tuition without work. Here illegally, she is scared to apply for FEMA aid. "We went to get hot food, and they asked for an ID and we ran because we were scared. I know I am not legal here, and I can't get anything. It's a difficult time."

Lack of clear instructions

Undocumented workers are eligible for crisis counseling and non-cash emergency aid, but Queens Councilman Daniel Dromm, head of the City Council Committee on Immigration, said FEMA hasn't clearly communicated what is available.

"On signs that FEMA posted, it says you need a Social Security number right off the bat," Dromm said. "There are some things [undocumented workers] are eligible for, but those signs are very, very misleading."

Jackie Vimo, the director of advocacy for the New York Immigration Coalition, said undocumented immigrants can apply for money raised by some organizations, like the Restaurant Opportunities Center of New York and the Mexican Consulate. She's also urging the mayor's office to set aside some of the money it has raised for Sandy relief to go directly to undocumented immigrants.

Nanny pleads not guilty, Facebook supporter speaks

► Ortega

The nanny suspected of murdering two children in cold blood pleaded not guilty from her hospital bed Wednesday, prosecutors said.

Yoselyn Ortega, 50, is facing charges of first- and second-degree murder after 6-year-old Lucia Krim and 2-year-old Leo Krim were brutally stabbed to death in their family's Upper West Side apartment Oct. 25. Ortega also suffered stab wounds police deemed self-inflicted.

The children's mother, Marina Krim, discovered the gruesome scene when she returned home with one of her other children. Ortega was taken to the hospital, where she remains.

"Yoselyn Ortega is charged with taking the lives of two innocent children who were incapable of defending themselves," Manhattan District Attorney Cyrus Vance said. "My heart goes out to the family of those beautiful young children, and I hope that, with time, this family will heal."

Four days after the horrific tragedy, a Facebook page supporting Ortega and declaring her innocent began making waves. The administrator of "Support Innocence of Nanny Yoselyn Ortega" calls for information leading to the "real killer" and has posted photos of Ortega posing with the Krim children. The page has garnered more than 100 "likes" but is riddled with violent threats and vicious insults against its creator.

CASSANDRA GARRISON
cassandra.garrison@metro.us

Supporting the suspect

The page's administrator would not reveal his or her identity to Metro, citing personal safety. When asked why he or she so strongly believed Ortega to be innocent, the page's administrator could not give concrete reasons but argued that she must be innocent because she is a hardworking mom.

"She wanted a future for her son, Jesus, and brought him to the U.S.A. for a better life and future," the administrator said in a Facebook message. "She would never throw away her life by killing Lucia and Leo and putting her son Jesus' life in trouble."

"She is a highly educated woman," the administrator said, adding that Ortega has a college degree in accounting. "She has not history of mental instability."

Police Athletic League opens makeshift rec center in Coney Island

The Police Athletic League's two early childhood centers in Coney Island were so badly damaged by Hurricane Sandy that, at one of them, a teddy bear was stuck in the ceiling.

"That's how high the water went," said Alana Sweeny, PAL's executive director.

Yet rather than focusing entirely on internal repairs, PAL decided to help out the community as a whole.

On Thanksgiving weekend, the organization set up two heated tents in the parking lot of the Brooklyn Cyclones' stadium, where kids and their parents stopped by for arts and crafts and even manicures.

Just outside the tents, kids jumped rope. Meanwhile, a church donated sandwiches, the fire department provided water for hot chocolate and a hospital van gave checkups.

For children whose lives have been turned upside down by the hurricane — many local recreation centers and public schools remain closed, for example — it was a return to normalcy, according to Sweeny.

"It's been a wonderful oasis," she said. "The big thing is to be able to relieve their stress."

What is PAL?

▶ In 1914, the then-commissioner of the NYPD, Arthur Woods, asked his police officers to do more than just fight crime: He wanted them to help some of the neediest New Yorkers in their precincts. Woods was particularly concerned about the lack of open space for New York City children to play.

▶ Today the organization Woods founded is known as the Police Athletic League, a nonprofit that helps set up safe recreation areas, after-school programs and mentoring.

▶ Once a month, Metro will feature updates about what the Police Athletic League is doing and how it is working to help make New York City streets healthier and safer.

► An overnight stay at Hotel CasAnus includes breakfast and an entry pass to the sculpture park.

Unusual architecture

- If you have the stomach for it, you ought to stay at this intestine-shaped lodging. This one-room gut hotel is located in the sculpture park Verbeke Foundation near Antwerp, Belgium.
- The Inn features a double bed, shower, toilet and heater. Metro spoke to the owner to learn more about the hotel.

A visceral work of art

- The room is in fact an art-work named CasAnus, made by the Atelier Van Lieshout, a collective run by Dutch artist Joep van Lieshout. It is one piece of the collective's 'Organ' series which explores enlarged parts of the human digestive system. "It is a multifunctional work of art, where the idea of art and applied art are combined," a spokesperson for the collective told Metro.

120

Euros ($155 U.S. dollars) is the rate per night for two people to stay at the CasAnus hotel. The price includes breakfast and an entry pass into the sculpture park. "In the summer-time, we have three or four bookings a week for the CasAnus, so it's a very popular place to stay," Verbeke told Metro.

"On the outside, like a bodily organ, it looks dirty and bloody. But inside, with its white walls, it looks clean and pristine. Visitors love staying here."

Other accommodation

- The CasAnus is not the only unusual digs in the art park. 'CampingFlat II' by Dutch artist Kevin van Braak is a 12-meter-high scaffolding, divided into 4 floors. Each floor has a tent and a campfire. The exterior of the scaffolding is covered by nets, which over time will be covered by evergreen climbing or ground creeping plants.

Appeal of gut hotel

- When asked about the appeal of staying at CasAnus, Verbeke explained that it's less about its interior than the picturesque surroundings outside. "Our guests are really happy to sleep undisturbed in a place surrounded by nature," Verbeke said. "They can see black swans and frogs and discover the stars in the night sky, as well as visiting all our different exhibitions." ● MWN

Boehner confident about fiscal deal

U.S. stocks sharply pared losses yesterday after U.S. House Speaker John Boehner said he was optimistic that a deal on the "fiscal cliff" to avert large tax hikes and spending cuts could be reached.

After falling nearly 1 percent, the S&P 500 pared losses to trade near flat after Boehner said that Republicans were willing to put revenues on the table if Democrats agreed to spending cuts.

For weeks now, the market has been swinging back and forth on headlines out of Washington regarding the ongoing U.S. budget talks.

"While there's little that the president and vice president could do, we still believe a legislative compromise will be reached before 'fiscal cliff' detonates," said Jack Ablin, chief investment officer at BMO Private Bank. REUTERS

Iran to press on with enrichment, nuke chief

DUNAI. Iran will go on refining uranium "with intensity" and the number of enrichment centrifuges it has operating will rise substantially in the current year, the country's nuclear energy chief was quoted as saying yesterday.

The comments by Fereydoon Abbasi-Davani, head of Iran's Atomic Energy Organization, signalled continued defiance in the face of international demands that Tehran halt enrichment to the higher 20-percent fissile purity level, close down its Fordow enrichment plant and ship out its stockpile of the material.

But he also said Iran would continue and possibly raise its output of reactor fuel using 20 percent enriched uranium — which suggests that less of it might be available for use in what the West suspects is an attempt to develop atom bombs. REUTERS

German zoophiles lash out at bestiality ban

Sex with animals will be banned in Germany, pending a controversial law change. Following a campaign from animal rights groups, the government has decided that bestiality "forces animals to behave in ways that inappropriate to their species," according to Agriculture Committee Chairman Hans-Michael Goldmann.

Germany is one of the last European countries to tolerate the practice, which has been legal since 1969. It hosts a thriving zoophile community, which has reacted angrily to the law change.

"There are already laws against hurting an animal, but there is no harm in what we do," Michael Kiok, head of the Zoophile Engagement for Tolerance and Information (ZETA) group, told Metro. "Animals can show if they want to

Q+A with Michael Kiok

You defend consensual sex with animals — how can they consent?

It's simple. If you know your pet, you can know if it wants to have sex or not. Animals can communicate their needs.

What does a relationship with an animal entail?

You can't go out for dinner together! It's like a normal relationship with a pet where you look after it but the difference is that you regard the animal as on the same level and you don't want to dominate.

How do you cope with abuse?

People come from all over Germany to protest at my house, and there is a lot of hate on the Internet. I try to understand why — I think it is because people see animals as children. There is a lot of pressure, many zoophiles have depression or even commit suicide. But I have never been attracted to people and my situation now (with Alsatian Cessy) is the best possible.

have sex or not, as they can show if they are hungry or want to exercise."

Kiok, who is in a relationship with his Alsatian dog, claims to represent thousands of zoophiles and says they will campaign to stop the law. "We want to inform the public that we are not cruel, we see animals as equal to people, and we want to stop the hate."

However, animal rights groups claim the practice is out of control. "The issue has become so public, and inhibitions fall," Astrid Behr, head of the German Association of Veterinarians, told Metro, indicating the growth of popular websites and forums, although she could not confirm the existence of rumored "pet brothels."

Behr denies that bestiality would be a victimless crime: "Perpetrators go unpunished, but sexual acts with animals are always associated with great physical and psychological injury."

The amendment is expected to be finalized in December, and offenders could face a 25,000 Euro fine.

Call on UN Secretary General Ban Ki-moon

- Declare Camp Liberty as a UN refugee camp
- Protect rights of Ashraf residents, prevent Iraqi government from pilfering their property
- Investigative conduct of UNSG Representative in Iraq with respect to Iranian dissidents in Camp Ashraf and Camp Liberty

From the report to the UN Security Council President on November 27, 2012 by the International Committee in Search of Justice, on behalf of over 4,000 Parliamentarians from both sides of Atlantic:

- UN Secretary General should form an investigative commission regarding the deeds of Secretary General's Representative in Iraq, Ambassador Martin Kobler with respect to Ashraf and Camp Liberty and his relations with the Iranian regime and the Government of Iraq
- UN Secretary General should assign an impartial representative on his behalf for Ashraf and Liberty dossier, condemn officially and publicly any involvement of the Iranian regime in the fate of Iranian dissidents at Ashraf and Liberty
- UN High Commissioner for Refugees should designate Liberty as a refugee camp and not to allow the GOI to violate the rights of the residents by calling it a Temporary Transit Location. Prison-like conditions at Liberty should be put to an end.
- UN should defend Ashraf residents' right to ownership of their movable and immovable property and to ask Government of Iraq to respect this right and allow the residents to freely sell these property

Patrick Kennedy***
 Member of U.S. Congress (1995-2011)
 I want to join my colleagues in pleading with the UN Secretary General to remove Martin Kobler as the Ambassador in charge of Camp Liberty and Camp Ashraf in Iraq. Ambassador Kobler has been complicit in the harassment, persecution and terrorization of the people of Ashraf and Liberty. As difficult as this may be, the UN Secretary General must have the courage to make this needed change before greater damage is caused.

Brig. General David Phillips (ret.)***
 Former Chief of Military Police served in Ashraf
 Martin Kobler gave the mullah regime legitimacy in pulling out and closing Camp Ashraf to allow the Iraqis to pilfer, vandalize and loot that place. The residents peacefully complied with every request and what did they get in return? Confinement, under concentration-camp-like conditions of Camp Liberty while their former home is vandalized and destroyed. Yet Martin Kobler watches knowingly without so much as speaking up if the agreement he helped make, to do the relocation, are disregarded by the Iraqis; and the residents are systematically stripped of their property. Mr. Kobler! You have shown your colors. You have been no help to anyone other than the mullahs' regime.

Col. Wesley Martin (ret.)***
 The first colonel commandant of Ashraf
 To Ambassador Kobler, I state: blessing every inhumane act by Maliki government is wrong. Presenting Liberty as a humane environment while covering up the true conditions is despicable. Sitting idle while agreements are ignored is unforgivable.

*Remarks made during international conference in Paris, November 17, 2012

United Nations should stand by its commitment, guarantee Ashraf residents' right of ownership and prevent Iraq's Government pilfering of their property which is worth millions of dollars.

Jessica Simpson raises Nick Lachey's baby count by one

Whoa. Here's news I didn't see coming: Jessica Simpson is pregnant, again.

Seven months after giving birth to daughter Maxwell, Jessica Simpson is reportedly already expecting another child, according to Us Weekly. "It definitely wasn't planned," a source says. "But yes, Jessica is pregnant again." This would be the second baby for Simpson and fiancé Eric Johnson. A rep for Simpson has yet to comment.

Oh man, you guys. This brings up so many questions, mainly: What was she thinking? But also: Is she taking cues from notorious quick-turn-around-breeder Tori Spelling? (Ed. note: Never, ever take life tips from Tori Spelling.) What will happen to her multimillion-dollar campaign with Weight Watchers? Because you know girlfriend isn't going to slim down anytime soon. And does this mean we're all going to be subjected to photos of her being gigantic yet again? As someone who has a 7-month-old at home, I'm down with pregnant ladies and have nothing but respect for them, but my Us Weekly just finally stopped running photos of her waddling around L.A. Hey, paparazzi — I think we (and probably Jessica Simpson) could use a little break. Let's let her gestate in peace this go-round, OK?

Dolly Parton: Still not gay

Continuing on Things That Are Surprising Dorothy Today, did you all know that there are lesbian rumors surrounding Dolly Parton? It's true! Color me John Travolta! Despite being married to Carl Dean for 46 years, the country singer continually has to swat down rumors that romantically link her to her best friend Judy Ogly. "Judy and I have been best friends since we were like in the third and fourth grade," Parton says in an interview with ABC's Nightline. We still just have a great friendship and relationship and I love her as much as I love anybody in the whole world, but we're not romantically involved." On the plus side, the persistent rumors did give Parton something she could bond over with Oprah Winfrey: "Like Gayle King, her friend [and] Judy, my friend, they just think that you just can't be that close to somebody," Parton says.

Talking points

Pattinson on his favorite boy band

Robert Pattinson may lose some fans also devoted to boy band One Direction with this one. When asked if he'd rather join the "What Makes You Beautiful" crooners or older British boy band Westlife, Pattinson says, "Westlife, definitely. Westlife are one of my favorite bands," according to MSN. But it's not out of any actual animosity toward the "X Factor" chart-toppers. It's just that he's unfamiliar with their work. "I actually don't know any songs that One Direction have done," he says. "I've just seen pictures."

Jones does damage control over video

"Two and a Half Men" star Angus T. Jones is doing damage control following his remarks during an interview with a Christian website in which he called the hit show "filth" and urged fans not to watch it. Jones released a statement this week aiming to smooth things over with his bosses and co-workers — though he pointedly didn't take back what he said. "I apologize if my remarks reflect me showing indifference to and disrespect of my colleagues and a lack of appreciation of the extraordinary opportunity of which I have been blessed," Jones' statement reads. "I never intended that."

Mayim Bialik divorces husband

Mayim Bialik and husband Michael Stone are divorcing after nine years of marriage and two children, the actress announced in a blog post on parenting site Kveller this week. "After much consideration and soul-searching, Michael and I have arrived at the decision to divorce due to 'irreconcilable differences,'" the "Blossom" and "Big Bang Theory" star writes. "Divorce is terribly sad, painful and incomprehensible for children. It is not something we have decided lightly."

Have a handmade Hanukkah

When you buy a subscription for Kiwi Crate (Kiwicrate.com) you get a box full of crafts and projects for your kids each month. But you don't need a subscription to partake in some Hanukkah crafting fun from the company. With their Handmade Hanukkah crate, your little ones (ages 3-7) can make a menorah themselves by decorating candle holders with tissue paper and LED candles. The kit also comes with a dreidel spin art activity that includes a wooden dreidel, Hebrew letter stickers, paints and tips, and paper squares. The crate is $19.95 (no subscription necessary) and is available now. ● METRO

Christmas crafting: Potato printing wrap

► This Christmas season, let your children get hands-on in your holiday preparations ► Here's a little how-to on making potato stamps for decorating unique gift wrap

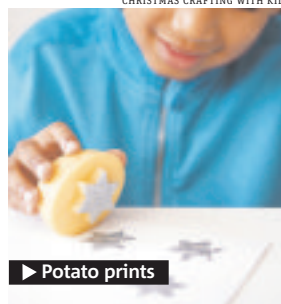

To help get you and your family in the Christmas spirit, we've excerpted this potato printing wrapping paper craft from the book "Christmas Crafting with Kids" by Catherine Woram.

Potato printing

You will need:

- Medium-sized potato
- Star-shaped cookie cutter
- Chopping board
- Sharp knife (used by adult)
- Kitchen paper/dry cloth
- Paints
- Plain white paper

- 1 Cut the potato in half, making sure the surface of the potato is as flat as possible. Place the cookie cutter on a cutting board with the sharp edge facing upwards. Press the potato firmly down onto the cutter, leaving the cookie cutter standing proud of the cut surface of the potato, so you can cut round it.

- 2 Ask an adult to cut away the edges of the potato using a sharp knife. Press the potato down onto a dry cloth or piece of kitchen paper to remove any excess moisture, which can make the paint watery.

- 3 Pour the paint into a saucer and use the end of the sponge paint roller to apply the paint to the star shape. Don't apply too much paint to the potato as this will make the design bleed.

- 4 Begin printing. To ensure the design prints clearly, use a gentle rocking motion, moving the potato from side to side without lifting it from the paper. This will apply the paint evenly even if the cut surface of the potato is not flat. Continue to print the stars at evenly-spaced intervals. Allow the paint to dry completely.

Can you be yourself?

Shrink Wrap

HEALTH.METRO.US

Typically celebrities meet and fall in love while they are working on a project or walking down the red carpet, so they are usually at their best. So the question is, if you meet under fairy-tale circumstances, like actress Scarlett Johansson and reported new boyfriend Romain Dauriac did, when can you let your hair down with a romantic partner and just be yourself? You certainly don't have to be a celebrity to be faced with this dilemma.

Anyone who is beginning to date can get caught up in working hard to be his or her best self — whatever that might mean. You want to be seen in the greatest possible light. It might force you to be super-aware of what you are saying and doing at all times. Not only does that require a whole lot of energy, it might ultimately lead to your holding back from expressing your own needs.

What happens, if you let your guard down and express your preferences? Does your partner welcome it — or get annoyed? If all is well, hopefully you feel accepted and you can continue to open up and be yourself, which will make the relationship grow. If not, then talk about the things that are important to you and see if he or she is able and willing to understand them and be responsive. If your partner can't, and seems to want just that "best" you, then you might be in a dead-end relationship.

The goal is to be able to relax and feel safe so that you can be genuine and not self-conscious. You want to feel free to voice your wishes, not worry about being judged.

Are You Shy

- ☐ Do you get anxious in front of others?
- ☐ Do you feel embarrassed if you have to give a speech or perform at a public function?
- ☐ Do you avoid meeting new people, going to parties, or dating?
- ☐ Is it difficult for you to eat, drink, or write while others may be watching you?

If your answer is yes to any of these questions, you may be suffering from Social Anxiety Disorder. If you are between 18 and 75 years of age, and feel that these problems interfere with your ability to achieve your goals or to enjoy life fully, you may be eligible for our research study. If you qualify, you will receive study-related evaluations with our Board Certified Physician and study medication, at no cost to you. Please call for more information.

Your gifting game plan

► Stuck on what to get your loved ones? ► We caught up with Joe Lupo, shopping expert and co-founder of lifestyle consulting firm Visual Therapy, at the T.J. Maxx and Marshalls holiday event to find out how to wow friends and family this holiday season

His gift ideas

For men

"An amazing gift for men is bedding. They don't buy good sheets. At discount stores like T.J. Maxx and Marshalls and you can buy home goods for up to 60 percent off, which is great. Another great option is a watch."

For women

"I love something in a pop of color, which is big this season. Try gloves in oxblood, also scarves and wraps are great because they're sizeless — think the icing on the cake, something that will complete a look for her. Also, women like gifts of luxury like spa treatments that they don't like to spend on themselves."

Gloves, $30,
T.J. Maxx

CREATAS

► A good wrap job will make even your $10 gift feel luxe.

Formula for giving a good gift

"You have to first make a list. And when you make your list don't just write names down. Write down something about them like their style type. Is she classic, is she chic, whimsical. Put something down about the personality. She likes to take wild trips, maybe she loves cocktails. Then you have all these little helpful adjectives when you go shopping so you're not just seeing 'mom' or 'cousin Sue.'"

Presentation is everything

"When you're giving a gift make sure you get a nice box. Buy gorgeous tissue paper to make a bed for the gift and go to a trimmings store. If you spend a little money on cloth ribbon and tie it around a beautiful box and you tie in a sprig from an evergreen you stole off some Park Avenue building, your gift will look like 10 million dollars."

letters@metro.us

Donkeys don't really have much to bray about

RE: "WHY BOTHER HAVING ANOTHER OPINION? ASSIMILATE!" (METRO, NOV. 27) Kudos to Metro for the clever "Assimilate" headline for Larry Blong's letter to the editor, summarizing a Democrat's suggestion that Republicans become less Republican.

The problem is, it was the letter writer's brand that polled almost 4 million fewer votes for president compared to four years earlier, and 33 fewer electoral votes, while the Republican brand picked up thousands of votes. Perhaps it's Democrats that ought to embrace the Republican principles of fiscal sanity and pay-as-you-go, instead of endless increases in taxes and debt.

DARRELL HARTWICK, VIA E-MAIL

In long list of social evils, pot doesn't make the cut

RE: "REPORT: MARIJUANA ARRESTEES DO NOT BECOME VIOLENT CRIMINALS" (METRO, NOV. 28) At the end of the day, creative entrepreneurs will always provide the citizens' desire, regardless of government approval. Consumers have made marijuana a multibillion dollar enterprise. Legalize it and add a sales tax. Revenues will cover the costs of any abuse. Citizens have more to fear from murder, arson, rape, muggings, robberies, auto and identity theft or home break-ins along with ever-increasing levels of confiscatory taxation and debt by government. Free law enforcement to pursue those who commit real crimes against citizens and property. At 18, you are old enough to vote, be a parent, pay taxes, own a car, take out a bank loan, serve in the military and die for your country. Not being able to consume marijuana legally at 18 or any age makes no sense.

LARRY PENNER, VIA E-MAIL

An odd bandwagon to jump on

RE: "RICE MEETING WITH SENATORS FAILS TO QUELL DOUBTS" (METRO, NOV. 28) I understand the political motivations of Senators Graham, McCain and Ayotte. Susan Rice has bristled many in her long and distinguished 20 year political career. What I don't understand is all the lemmings across the country who are chiming in that couldn't have named who the UN ambassador was before Sept. 11, 2012, without using Google.

LARRY FOWLER, VIA E-MAIL

Reid shouldn't start sleeping in yet

Fans may want Jeff Lurie to fire Andy Reid this season, but let me give you a little piece of reality: Reid will be here the rest of this year and through the 2013 season. Why? Because Lurie is a loyal person and Reid has helped him become a billionaire. He does not have the coach to replace him as of yet, and Andy doesn't play on the field. Making a move for the sake of fandom is not how Lurie operates. So Eagles fans, look for Howie and Marty and a few more coaches to be gone before Andy, and don't be surprised when "BIG RED" is walking the sideline next season. DARREN CEPHAS, VIA E-MAIL

Horoscope

♈ Sagittarius Nov. 23-Dec. 21. In order to be effective, you need to be left to your own devices. However, you should still consult with others when the circumstances call for it.

♊ Capricorn Dec. 22-Jan. 19. If you let them, friends could play important roles in helping you construct your plans. They can assist you in sorting out your thoughts.

♋ Aquarius Jan. 20-Feb. 19. Set your playthings aside for the time being, and devote your efforts to some worthy endeavors. A great deal can be accomplished if you buckle down and apply yourself.

♌ Pisces Feb. 20-March 20. You have a gift of swaying others to your way of thinking, so try not to waste it on insignificant issues or projects. Do your best to promote something of substance and true worth.

♍ Aries March 21-April 19. You're in a fortunate but momentary cycle where Dame Fortune could put you in the right spot at the right time to reap a harvest that you didn't sow. Gather up as much as you can; it won't last forever.

♉ Taurus April 20-May 20. Something extremely interesting is in the works that will involve you and a close friend. Whatever it is, it will help you fulfill a longtime hope that you both share.

♊ Gemini May 21-June 20. Unusually large rewards related to your work or career could be in the offing. However, you'll have to be extremely discerning, because they won't be too obvious.

♊ Cancer June 21-July 22. You're likely to be exceptionally fortunate with just about everything except money. Enjoy the day, but be very prudent and careful when it comes to the financial realm.

♌ Leo July 23-Aug. 22. It isn't likely that you will be able to sit idly by and do nothing about the inequities you see all around you. Your strong sense of justice will motivate you to make what improvements you can.

♍ Virgo Aug. 23-Sept. 22. If there are phone calls to make, e-mails to send or letters to answer, this is the day to work on them. A happy surprise could be in the offing.

♏ Scorpio Oct. 24-Nov. 22. Some recent experiences have added a bit of zest to your take-charge attitude, and you won't be reluctant to use it. You'll understand that your destiny remains in your hands.

Restaurant notes

The NYC Craft Beer Festival is pouring 150 American winter craft beers.

More ways to help with Sandy relief

▶ Saturday's NYC Craft Beer Festival — Winter Harvest Edition at Basketball City at Pier 36 (299 South St.) is doubling as a Sandy relief drive for Breezy Point, so bring your canned goods and toiletries with you. $55-$135, www.nycraftbeerfest.com

▶ Esquire Magazine's culinary fundraiser, The Esquire, is three days of manly food and drink for the Mayor's Fund to Advance New York City. Saturday, there's music and food from Rao's; Sunday brings a football viewing party (with snacks, of course) with Tiki Barber; and Monday's "Greatest Meal Ever Cooked" is lining up superstar chefs for a six-course feast. $35-$275, www.citiprivatepass.com/landing/the\_esquire.html

▶ Hearth (403 E. 12th St., 646-602-1300) is hosting the second NYC Food Flood dinner for Sandy victims. Proceeds from Monday's five-course meal ($250) go to food distribution efforts.

▶ Since their bars are closed, guest bartenders from the Rockaways will be at SideBAR (120 E. 15th St.) this Friday through the holidays. The bartenders keep all tips and 10 percent of that night's revenue. ● METRO/ME

Baby it's cold outside: Eat and drink fireside

▶ The weather outside is frightful, but these spots are delightful ▶ Don't let the cold scare you off — there's plenty of fun to be had once you're indoors and warm

While a ginger latte or a hot toddy might warm you up on these chilly nights, nothing does the trick like a good fireplace. Thankfully, our options are plentiful for sipping cocktails and dining fireside. Check out these spots that set fire to the cold.

1 OAK

1 453 W. 17th St., 212-242-1111 www.1oaknyc.com
Nightlife in the winter can be challenging when you want to wear your little black dress in 30-degree weather. 1 OAK allows for a night on the town by keeping everyone warm with its roaring fireplace. It's tucked into the wall, so your back stays toasty as you mingle.

Bouley

2 163 Duane St., 212-964-2525 www.davidbouley.com
Love is in the air at Bouley. Dine by the romantic hand-carved fireplace with a hearth imported from France, and take in the picturesque scene by dining on meals such as wild mushrooms and organic Long Island duck with hand-milled polenta.

Antica Pesa

3 115 Berry St., Brooklyn 347-763-2635

www.anticapesa.us

Escape the cold by enjoying some Italian wine by the fire. Williamsburg's Antica Pesa is the sister restaurant to the original in Rome, which opened in 1922. Peruse the antique books, trinkets and wine bottles while you're there.

Cocktail of the week

Smashing Pumpkin

Bid farewell to November with one last pumpkin-y drink.

- 1 oz. simple syrup
  - 1 oz. lemon juice
  - 3 oz. cinnamon-infused pumpkin vodka (instructions below)
  - 2 oz orange juice
- Orange twist garnish

Instructions: Make the cinnamon/pumpkin vodka: Add cinnamon sticks to a pumpkin-flavored vodka and seal in an airtight jar. Shake periodically for a few days to achieve desired infusion. Strain the vodka.

To make the cocktail, build ingredients in a glass cocktail shaker with ice. Shake well and strain into a chilled cocktail glass. Garnish with an orange twist.

Think you've had authentic Indian food? Think again

Hot chef

Gaurav Anand moved to the U.S. for love, but it wasn't long before he got down to business.

Anand, who followed his girlfriend (now wife) to America, is the chef/owner of Curry Hill's Bhatti Indian Grill and Desi Galli. He also helms the new Moti Mahal Delux, a successful operation in India dating back to the 1920s. Anand brought the business stateside, eager to show Americans that Indian food goes beyond tandoori chicken and naan.

Did you always like to cook?

It was never my vision to become a chef. I always loved cooking, I always enjoyed cooking, and suddenly my brother started a restaurant and I just started working with him and then just started enjoying it. One day I had cooks working for me, and I had huge party of 500 people, and I said, "Why is the food coming late?" They said, "If you don't like it, then why don't you cook it?" I said, "You know what, if I want to be in this business, I cannot be dependent on anybody, just myself." So I said, "Let's go ahead."

Did you have any concerns about bringing an established brand to the U.S.?

The only concern was how we would get the same taste, because it's difficult to get the same stuff: same [ingredients], same spices. We had this importer called Nanak Foods, so we gave them the list of things which we need from India and they did their research and said, "Yes, we can get you all these things." We don't use any color in our food. If you see anything yellow, that has yellow chili powder. If you go anywhere in the U.S., you cannot find a yellow chili powder. It's very difficult. You get that from India.

"Each dish is from a different place because the recipe was give to me by a different person."

► Anand was so eager to get his flavors right at Moti Mahal Delux (1149 First Ave., 212-371-3535) that he sent his chefs to train under the establishment's master chef in India.

Tell us about the menu.

I traveled a lot of places in India. ... You cannot find a similar menu like this because all of the [recipes] are from different places. Each dish is from a different place because the recipe was give to me by a different person. I collected everything and put it all together and made a nice blend.

Are there differences between Indian and American audiences?

I think American audiences are the best you can ever, ever have in the world, and especially New Yorkers. Their attitude is mind-blowing, and they give you a chance, let me tell you that. They are so open to every

meredith.engel@metro.us

What are some misconceptions about Indian food?

Chicken tikka masala is a British dish. There's nothing in India called chicken tikka masala. People should only go to restaurants where the menus are small, not, like, 175 things. You see every Indian restaurant has everything in the world on the menu — they are not authentic. I don't even have a buffet in my restaurant. There are no buffets in India. Buffets are meant for big wedding parties, where you have 500 people.

Jets face struggling foe

- ▶ Coming off bludgeoning by Pats, Gang Green happy to see lowly Cards
- ▶ Both teams hungry to earn a win

The Jets couldn't ask for a better opponent right now than the Cardinals. After starting the season with four straight wins, the Cardinals are losers of seven straight games.

To put it in perspective, the Arizona Diamondbacks won their second-to-last game of the baseball season on Oct. 2, two days after the last Cardinals win.

But head coach Rex Ryan points to the Cardinals' Week 2 win at New England as proof Sunday's opponent isn't as bad as its record indicates.

"I think after starting the way we did, expectations were raised, so it always makes it difficult when you've had a stretch like we've had," Arizona head coach Ken Whisenhunt said. "Our players have continued to work hard, but it's not easy. This is a difficult business and when you don't win games, it is tough."

Including this Sunday's opponent, not one of the Jets' remaining five games is against a team currently with more than four wins. While their own record isn't anything sterling, it does give hope that they can get on a roll and perhaps squeak into the playoffs as the final wild card.

"We feel we're a better football team than our record indicates, and I'm sure they do as well, and they should feel that way," Ryan said. "Both teams are hungry for a win. There are some similarities."

Giants' Cruz tops voting

Giants wide receiver — and salsa-dancing sensation — Victor Cruz might not want to take his act to "Dancing with the Stars," but he's still getting plenty of votes from the public.

The receiver found out yesterday that he's currently leading all NFC wideouts in this year's Pro Bowl voting.

"It's funny. I just got a text message today from my agent saying that," Cruz said. "I'm humbled. It's just crazy to think, it's crazy to even fathom the thought that just three years ago, I was a guy nobody knew, now I'm leading in votes for the Pro Bowl. Words can't even explain how I feel about that right now." ● METRO

Rutgers plays for a title

► Cardinals game brings back memories of program's biggest win in team history ► Ito talks about memorable kick ► BCS spot on the line tonight

It was Nov. 9, 2006, when Rutgers kicker Jeremy Ito produced the most iconic moment in the program's 143 years of playing college football — a 28-yard field with 13 seconds left to give Rutgers an improbable 28-25 upset of No. 3 Louisville.

Ito turned around, paused and pointed straight at the suspended camera hanging over the field. The moment was played repeatedly on "SportsCenter" and across the nation.

"It definitely was not pre-planned. After I saw the ball going through, I turned to the student section, put my arms up in the air, and out of the corner of my eye I saw the camera," Ito said this week, looking back on the win. "I looked up and pointed to it. I can't tell you why; there was just so much emotion with that moment."

ON TV TONIGHT

Rutgers vs. Louisville

Tonight, six years after that Thursday-night game propelled Rutgers onto the national stage, the Scarlet Knights will again play the Cardinals. But this one means much more.

A win would give Rutgers its first outright Big East title in history. It would also earn them a trip to their first ever BCS bowl just weeks after announcing an impending move to the Big Ten.

Ito's Rutgers team made history, winning a bowl game and finishing a season ranked — both feats accomplished for the first time in program history. But after upsetting Louisville, they lost two of their next three games and settled on playing in the Texas Bowl.

Ito will be at tonight's game with his girlfriend, as he is at nearly every home game. He still loves to attend games and is often recognized by fans who thank him for that kick.

What to watch for ...

1 Bridgewater's health — Louisville quarterback Teddy Bridgewater has a wrist and an ankle injury that could limit his ability under center and affect his overall mobility. Expect Rutgers to try to knock him around early, like UConn's defense did last week when they upset the Cardinals.

2 Jawan that they want — Rutgers redshirt sophomore running back Jawan Jamison topped 1,000 yards last Saturday in Pittsburgh, and he accounts for 35 percent of Rutgers' offense. He is now back from an ankle injury that limited him to just 13 total carries over the past two weeks. Rutgers is 5-0 when he tops 100 yards this season.

3 Pandemonium in Piscataway — Rutgers has the chance to finish the job from 2006 — again on a Thursday night — and beat Louisville to take the Big East crown. The moment — and a BCS bowl — is theirs for the taking.
